Mower/Collectors for Residue removal and compost making

For some years we have supplied Mower/Collectors made by "Peruzzo" of Italy. They come in many sizes for use with small and medium tractors. These units are flail mowers with collection system to hold cut vegetation so it can be relocated to make compost, etc.

Some are designed to dump directly on the ground at desired places. Still others can elevate collector section to allow them to dump into trailer or truck bed when disposal site or compost site are more remote.

Recently Falc of Italy has added shredder/collectors of a wide range of sizes and generally heavier duty capable of disposing of even hard prunings such as olive wood. Besides the obvious use of removing prunings and weeds in vineyards and orchards they can help vegetable growers shorten turn around and replanting on beds by removing one crop's residue rather than having to wait for incorporated residues to decompose.
